New Mexico State University Dance Program
Department of Kinesiology
Mosaic in Motion, A Works in Progress Showing
November 6th–8th, 2025

New Mexico State University honors Native American knowledges and worldviews based on intimate relationships to the natural world. The genesis of the Southwest Indigenous Peoples, including the Pueblo, Navajo, and Apache, established their guardianship of the lands now occupied by New Mexico State University. As the state's Land-Grant University, we acknowledge and respect the sovereign Indian Nations and Indigenous Peoples. We pledge to have a meaningful and respectful relationship with the sovereign Indian Nations, Indigenous communities, and Native American Peoples within the institution.

The following performance is a works-in-progress showing of choreography. This performance is being recorded by staff, please refrain from any photography or videography on your personal devices.

Dance Faculty Biographies

Ana Sufflé is a distinguished dancer and educator with over three decades of teaching and performance experience. A UTEP alumna (B.A., M.Ed.), Ana has studied various forms including Modern Dance, Jazz, Tap, and Clogging, notably with Bill Evans and Dr. S. Ama Wray.

Her commitment to education is underscored by nominations for Teacher of the Year by EPISD and recognition by the National Association of Latino Artists and Culture. As an Artist in Residence for the Arkansas Arts Council, Ana has been praised by national media for her work promoting opportunities for underprivileged youth. She has taught at esteemed events like the American College Dance Association and World Dance Alliance, and currently contributes to impactful projects like Somos Agua and Empowered Steps: Dancing with Aphasia and Brain Injury. She is an Adjunct Professor of Dance at New Mexico State University and El Paso Community College.

Anne Wharton is an Adjunct Dance Professor at NMSU. Anne has performed, choreographed, and taught dance in Australia, England, China, Trinidad & Tobago, and the USA. Currently a PhD Candidate in Interdisciplinary Fine Arts at Texas Tech University, Anne conducts research across cultural anthropology, dance studies, and ethno/musicology. They hold an AA in Dance from Austin Community College, a BFA in Dance from Texas State University, a BS in Mass Communication and Public Relations from Texas State University, and a MM in Musicology from Texas Tech University.

Ryan P. McMullen received his Bachelor of Arts in Dance from Slippery Rock University and was awarded The Excellence in Performance Award and The Excellence in Choreography Award. Ryan has performed choreography by artists such as Rodger Belman, Rennie

Harris, Ursula Payne, Andre Zachary, Jawole Zollar, and more. Ryan received his Master of Fine Arts in Dance from Florida State University, where he was a three-time recipient of the Men's Provost Performance Scholarship. In 2022, Ryan was awarded the Rock Alumni 10 Under 10 Award for his professional achievements in dance from Slippery Rock University.

Ryan presented choreography at American College Dance Association, Bucknell University, Dixon Place, Dogtown Dance Theatre, Small Plates Choreography Festival, Koresh Dance Company's Come Together Festival, Gibney Dance Center, NewGrounds Dance Festival, SUNY Fredonia and more. Ryan served as the Director of Dance at Louisburg College from 2018–2021, where he was also a company member with Elevate, a dance performance and entertainment company based in Raleigh, NC. Ryan performed with Rennie Harris Puremovement in their touring of: LIFTED! A Hip-Hop Gospel Musical. Ryan has been on faculty at Louisburg College, Bucknell University, Slippery Rock University, and El Paso Community College. Ryan currently serves as a College Assistant Professor and the NMSU Dance Program Coordinator, Artistic Director of New Mexico State University Dance Theatre.
